

About the Floyd Memorial Foundation

The Floyd Memorial Foundation is a tax-exempt organization established solely to support the mission and needs of Floyd Memorial Hospital and Health Services, and its affiliate organizations. Establishing and maintaining relationships with individuals, businesses and others who support our mission and have the willingness and capacity to make contributions to our organization accomplish this.

Every day, miracles happen at Floyd Memorial; lives are saved, pain is relieved, broken bones and spirits are mended. The compassion and family focus of our physicians, associates and volunteers are beyond compare in the region, and we strive to maintain our facilities and technology on the leading edge of treatment.

To guarantee the continuance of this level of quality, we rely on the generosity of our friends who make contributions to support our mission and ensure the well being of all who come to us for care. We know that when you and your family use any of the services of our Hospital, excellence is not just an option, it is an expectation. The Foundation acts as a vital link between the Hospital's vision of excellence and its financial capacity to provide only the best for the community it serves.

Financial contributions from individuals, organizations, corporations and others are used to promote health and healing, to provide the latest facilities and technology and to improve the quality of life for the people in our region. Gifts from the community are vital to provide for projects that cannot be funded through general operating revenue.

Commemorative Giving Program

Commemorative Gifts

We all know someone special – someone we admire, respect and love. These relationships are priceless and a gift in memory or in honor as a tribute to someone is gratifying indeed.

Gifts are unique ways to express your feelings, showing that you care in a way that will provide a lasting tribute – and providing a gift that will outlast any material possession.

Your gifts help to strengthen our community Hospital by funding projects and programs that would otherwise not be possible for the organization. As with all gifts to the Floyd Memorial Foundation, you may direct your gift to any area you choose.

Memorial Gifts – To Express More Than Sympathy

More frequently in our region...friends, family members and associates of bereaved persons are choosing to express respect and condolences in more enduring ways than cards and flowers. They are making gift memorials that offer consolation to the family and reverence for the deceased. Also, someone may want to acknowledge the anniversary of a person's passing.

Tribute Gifts – To Express Thanks, Congratulations, or Celebrate a Holiday

So many of us have all of the material things we need – and more. And it gets harder each year to find just the right gift for that someone special. Why not consider a gift to the Floyd Memorial Foundation for such occasions?

A "Tribute" Gift is an honored gift that can be used to say "Get Well," "Happy Birthday," "Happy Anniversary," "Happy Holiday" or for any other special day or event in someone's life.

Recognizing Your Gift

When commemorative gifts are received, the family of the deceased (memorial) or the honoree will be notified; however, the amount of the contribution will not be disclosed.

When the Foundation is made aware of its designation as the recipient of memorial acknowledgements for an individual, the Foundation will submit a list of donors and addresses to the family approximately two (2) weeks after said designation has been made.

The donor (and their gift) will be acknowledged in a letter within two days of receipt of the donation. The letter will serve as a receipt and will indicate the tax-deductible amount of their gift.

All donors will be entered on the Foundation's Annual Donor Honor Roll published on the Internet in January of each year.

Donors making donations of $5,000 or more are offered exclusive membership in the Floyd Memorial Foundation's Heritage Society. As its name suggests, the Heritage Society conveys a tradition of exceptional generosity. Membership in the Heritage Society welcomes each member into a close circle of friends who periodically gather for social events.

Additionally, those making cumulative donations of $5,000 or more will be appropriately listed on the Recognition Wall located near the Main Lobby, adjacent to the Surgery Waiting Room. The donor shall select the wording for their recognition piece.

Naming opportunities are available to individuals desiring to name a part of the hospital after someone (in memory of a departed loved one, in their family name, or in honor of someone).
